Summary: Psalm 35 is an imprecatory psalm in which the psalmist prays to the Lord for divine judgment upon his enemies (verses 1, 17, 22, 23, and 24). Injustices have been carried out against him so he cries to the Lord for vindication. His enemies may have been those who were once his friends, like Saul (1 Sam. 24), Shimei (2 Sam. 16), Absalom (2 Sam. 15), or Ahithophel (2 Sam. 17). The psalmist is characterized by deep emotion, grief, hurt, and complaint. He wants his enemies to get the punishment they deserve. However, he also promises to praise God when the divine judgment has been carried out (verses 9-10, 18, and 27-28). Psalm 35 is a three-fold lament. Each of the three cries for deliverance (verses 1-8, 11-17, and 19-26) ends with a vow to praise God for his divine help (verses 9-10, 18, and 27-28).

Verses 1-3: Note the image of the Lord as a military soldier who fights a battle on behalf of the psalmist.

Verses 4-8: Note the use of “let them”, “let their”, and “let him” in these verses. This is the language of an imprecatory prayer in which the psalmist calls down curses upon his enemies. Another series of “let them” curses is found in verses 19, 24, 25, and 26. For more on imprecatory psalms, see the notes on Psalm 7.

Verses 5-6: For “chaff”, see Psalm 1:4. For the “angel of the Lord”, see the notes on Psalm 34:7.

Verse 7: The “without cause” language (see also verse 19) is used by Jeremiah (18:20-22).

Verse 10: “All my bones” means “with my entire being”.
Verses 13-14: In the middle of a description about his enemies, the psalmist recounts his own innocence and gracious spirit toward his enemies. He took “the high road” and did not return evil for evil, but good for evil. He treated them as a “friend” or a “brother”. This righteous behavior is amazing!

Verse 15: The “abjects” (ASV, KJV) are smiters who attacked the psalmist.

Verse 19: “Wink with the eye” is a sign of malicious planning (Prov. 6:13-14; 10:10). The words “hate me without a cause” are quoted by Jesus in John 15:25 and “fulfilled” by those in the world who hated Jesus and his Father. These words are also found in Psalm 69:4.

Verse 21: The words “Aha, aha” (see also verse 25) are words of mocking (Psa. 40:15; 70:3). .

Verse 27: The “let them” expression here is different from the previous uses in this psalm. It refers to friends who are supportive of the psalmist and who magnify the Lord.
